

Creating Sacred Space and Protection Invoking the 4 Archangels

Face East and say "Archangel Raphael, I invoke thee for guidance, protection and love.....thank you". You may feel a gentle wind penetrating the entire body. Archangel Raphael is the supreme healer in the angelic realm and his chief role is to support, heal, and guide in matters involving health. Raphael means "God heals" or "He who heals"

Face South and say "Archangel Michael, I invoke thee and your legion for guidance, protection and love.....thank you". You may feel an intense radiation of heat. Archangel Michael is probably the most famous of all the archangels. Usually he's painted with his sword poised above a pinned-down demon. This is to signify Michael's primary purpose of slaying the ego and fear. He is the almighty protector!

Face West and say "Archangel Gabriel, I invoke thee for guidance, protection and love.....thank you". You may feel a sense of moisture or flowing water. Gabriel's mission as the supreme messenger of God, and why this archangel is the patron saint of communications workers and acts like a Heavenly agent and manager who motivates you to polish your skills.

Face North and say "Archangel Uriel, I invoke thee for guidance, protection and love.....thank you". You may feel a sense of cool, calm rooted stability and feel the earth beneath you. Archangel Uriel's name means "the Light of God". Uriel brings the power of unconditional forgiveness.

The Archangels are omnipresent. It is not necessary to face the four corners in order to invoke them. You may call upon all of them at once quickly at any time especially if you feel you are in danger.
